LEWISVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

FOREWORD

In this yearbook we have endeavored to give you a picture story of the activities of our first year in the new Lewisville School. We, the staff, hope that you will enjoy our annual as much as we have enjoyed preparing it.

DEDICATION

To Harold E. Simpson, our beloved Principal, in deep appreciation for his careful guidance, unfailing interest, and wise counseling, we gratefully dedicate this, our account of our first year in the new Lewisville School.

CLASS SONG

So here's to dear old Lewisville faithful and bold,

Here's to her colors of black and gold,

Here's to pals and comrades who come from far and nigh,

Singing the victory song of Lewisville
High.

CLASS POEM

"FORTY-NINERS"
By MARIE TUCKER

The autumn leaves with colors to us call,
But we noticed them not at all,
For excitement was buzzing everywhere,
And we so gay knew not a care.

'Twas September at its very brightest,
And, too, our hearts were at their lightest,
As on the day we entered school,
To learn and live the noble Golden Rule.

Ours was a gay and happy class.
We proved it as the days went past.
We chose the name "Success" as our code,
As we did travel "Knowledge Road".

We waxed strong in wisdom as we grew,
And gained confidence and talents, too.
With vim, vigor, and grim determination,
We finally attained our graduation.

Loyalty and devotion to Lewisville High,
Where together we would laugh and cry,
There we daily lived, loved, and learned,
And shared the honors we had earned.

The years will come, and years will go,
Cities and nations will bud and grow,
As sure as the stars continue to shine,
Eternally supreme will live the spirit of '49.

CLASS HISTORY

ANNIE BUTNER, Historian

It was in the fall of 1937 that a group of timid, yet excited boys and girls, started out on the "Road of Education". In due course, we began to become acclimated to our teachers and surroundings. As we trudged through the years, acquiring more knowledge and wisdom each year, we learned to know and love our elementary teachers, who helped to keep us on a straight and narrow path. Among them were: Miss Conrad, Mrs. Mock, Miss Turner, Mrs. Ward, Miss Crouse, Mr. Adams, Mrs. Jones, Miss Key, Mrs. Hobson, Mrs. Ferguson, and Miss Taylor. Yes, these were the ones to wield the rod, but oh; so gentle and kind were they. Hail to their spirit and may there be more like them!

As we journeyed through the years, some members of our esteemed group proved their prowess in the "Declamation and Reading Contests". Some achieved the distinction of being "Winner of First Place"; while a few of the others trailed along in second gear.

The long looked for event, our entrance into High School, at last arrived. It was a dream come true! The years until graduation had seemed far in the distance, but as we look backward now, these years seem all too brief.

It was in August, 1945, that our Freshman year began. Changing classes and teachers seemed confusing to us at first, but it made us feel more grown-up, and at times very much sophisticated. Not long after school had started that year, a great tragedy happened. Our school building burned to the ground on December 2. With sad hearts, strengthened by a great faith in the future, we were transferred to the South Fork School. Having to go to another school that year made things harder but with the careful guidance of our teachers and principal, we came safely through.

With a lively step and a zest for living, we stepped into our Sophomore year. This being our second year in High School, we slowly, but surely took our places on the stage in school life, each as a distinct individual.

Our Sophomore and Junior years were spent at the South Fork School in a combination grade. We enjoyed ourselves there, but we were awaiting the day when we could have again our own school at Lewisville.

With the bubbling action and excitement of another year we began to feel more essential as Juniors—for Juniors we were now! As our class officers we elected: Roy Jennings, President; Anna Jones, Vice President; Maxine Moser, Secretary; and Jackie Matthews, Treasurer. We aimed much of our interest toward the Junior-Senior Banquet at the Patio. A three-act play, "Elmer, the Youngest", was given by the class to cover the expense. Under the direction of our home room teacher, Miss Lefler, it proved a great success.

Some of the members of our original class had dropped out and new members had been added. While our ship was embarked on the sea of education, we added new members with great gusto: Helen Strupe from Charlotte, Ray Plunkett from Rural Hall, Ted Fulp from City View, and William Southern from Mineral Springs, with his cheery smile. Iris Goin came to join us in the ninth grade from Pine Hall. While we were in the tenth grade, Polly Brewer from Clemmons entered our class. Oneita Mendenhall and Rachel Fulp from Griffith joined us. Lonnie Dalton from Old Town was to strengthen the twelfth grade morale later on.

On September 15, 1948, twenty-seven husky, wide awake, intelligent individuals entered the Senior Class at Lewisville. Yes, we were full-fledged Seniors, all encamped in a wonderful new modern school building and in a delightfully pretty classroom, under the wise guidance of Mrs. Bowers as home room teacher. Happiness supreme! Yes—we were genuinely happy. We had reached the glorious fulfillment of all our dreams, we thought. We elected our class officers: Anna Jones, President; Marie Tucker, Vice President; Julia Ann Mock, Secretary; and Tel Fulp, Treasurer. It is a great honor to us as well as to Roy Jennings that he became the President of the Student Council. Other Senior members of the Council are: Polly Brewer, Lloyd Caudle, and Mary Ellen Harper. All have helped to make it a great year.

Now that our school span is coming to a close we will look forward to the future. The way we have traveled together has been a happy one. Our thoughts are a mingling of regret and happiness as we bid farewell to dear old Lewisville High. To all of you go our sincere thanks; to all of our teachers past and present, our ever kind remembrance; to any comrades in the other classes, a genuine wish for rich accomplishments; to our wonderful new building, a wish that she foster within her portals thousands of great boys and girls. And to each of my classmates, before I say bon voyage, may I express my fervent hope that each will mold his life on the St. Paul's inspired plea:

"Whatsoever things are true,
Whatsoever things are honest,
Whatsoever things are just,
Whatsoever things are pure,
Whatsoever things are lovely,
Whatsoever things are of good report,
If there be any virtue,
And if there be any praise,
Think on these things."

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Lewisville High School, being of sound mind and of superhuman unused intelligence, admitting our worldly possessions to be of small estate, but having a very high opinion of our personalities and an exaggerated sense of our importance, and being about to depart from school do hereby make and solemnly ordain and publish this document as our last will and testament, and declare all previous wills to be null and void. Any doubt as to the truth of these statements can be removed by consulting any contemporary of the "49-ers".

If it were possible to do so, we would order all our just debts to be paid by the rising Senior Class. But since our debt of love and gratitude, of affection and appreciation to those who have lived with us, worked with us, and enjoyed our school days along with us, is too great ever to be adequately settled for, we do hereby bequeath and devise some of our most precious possessions.

Oneita Mendenhall wishes to will her bus driver's license to Ruth Scott, because she thinks at least one girl ought to drive a school bus.

Part of Annie Butner's curly hair and a generous portion of her quiet dignity goes to Martha Ann Nifong. (Maybe Martha can get that man!)

Lewis Craft is to have Bill Isgett's ability to wash dishes wished on him. If you are uncertain about that, Lewis, see Bill!

Lonnie Dalton is modest about his athletic prowess, but he is willing to share with Franklin Mathis.

One of Margaret Herman's skills is operating the mimeograph machine; and, since she is leaving, she is willing to hand that down to Frances Jones.

Height is not one of the things Rachel Fulp brags about; but she is always generous, so she wants to share that with Hobart Dull.

Maybe you've noticed the "lean and hungry look" of Bill Lasley and Ned Moser. Well, Bill wills his job in the cafeteria to Ned, so that Ned can get some nourishment!

Have you seen Rosie Dalton type? Then you know how much Ray Snyder will appreciate her leaving that ability to him.

In the cafeteria Floyd Craft will be missed, but he leaves his job as chief dish and bottle washer to Gene Mock. Here's to you, Gene.

Iris Goin leaves the foot, other than the one which she usually puts in her mouth to Donald McMordie. His is about worn out from being continuously used the same way.

Stencils? Oh, yes, the ability to cut them rapidly and accurately is what Mary Ellen Harper thinks C. W. Ellis can use.

Dorothy Slater thinks square dancing is so much fun that she wants to leave what she has learned about it to Rosa Bodsford.

Well, here's something we hope will make all the Juniors' lives happier (with especial emphasis on Billy Fred Harper). Foy Jennings leaves that superior intellectual power of his to all of them who will use it well.

Ted Fulp's ability to manage ball teams is something to write home about, so he's willing that to James Mullican.

The privilege of coming to school late every—well, nearly every—morning is Roy Hutchens' gift to Clyde Conner.

One Dorothy is a kindred spirit for every other Dorothy, so Dorothy Brendle wants to bestow something upon Dorothy Stewart. Now what was it? Oh, yes, that driving license which she isn't using!

Here's that question of height again. This time it's our midget Helen Strupe who wants to pass on the ability to see over everyone else's heads to Bobbyette Pegram. Have any use for it, Bobbyette?

Eating in school isn't always safe, so Katherine Holder wants Ella Hensley to have all that chocolate candy she didn't have time to eat in school.

"There are smiles that make you happy." Yes, that's Anna Jones' smile which she bequeaths to Lucille Slater.

Ray Plunkett has a wonderful gift to pass on. It's his "romantic know-how" being bestowed upon Betty Jo Conrad.

And speaking of the romantic reminds us of Julia Ann Mock. We think she has enough charm for the masculine side of the house to share with someone else, and she has consented to leave a gracious amount to Juanita Harper.

Did anybody say thing about Juniors needing to study? Well, here comes Marie Tucker's love for books and study to Romelia Fulton.

They might use some musical ability, too. So Edwin Craft is leaving his bass voice to Bruce Harper. Now, what do you think Edwin will do without it?

When a fellow leaves the "light of his life" to another, you know he is sacrificing; but that is what William Southern is doing for "Hammer" Harper —giving away his place in the lab darkroom developing pictures.

Polly Brewer wants next year's class to be an especially good one, so she's leaving high ideals, and a challenge to straight thinking to the Junior Class—to everyone of them who will apply them wisely.

The biggest job in the whole school is waiting for somebody. Roy has decided to leave the presidency of the student body to—oh, I believe he said he'd leave it to the Junior who could convince the student body he or she could do a good job at it. Maybe Nell Hege or Carrie Messick could try to do that.

And your testator? Well, he wills anything he has to anyone who wants it and will use it—but especially this job of writing a will. Let's see, maybe to Lewis Craft; he's good at "leaving" things.

To all the Juniors who have been close behind us—but have never quite caught us—we leave the job of running the school. Do a good job, folks; we've done our best!

But to the Sophomores we leave the most interesting tasks of all—that of being able to skip class and get away with it, and that of looking after all the teachers.

To the Freshmen we extend our congratulations for finishing a good year and cloak them with the remains of our dignity.

To all our teachers, Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Smith, Mr. Lemly, Mrs. Sacrinty, Mrs. Ross, Miss Hicks, and Mr. Partin, we collectively and severally as a class do hereby will all unfinished home work, all our knowledge we've never told you about, and our real love and appreciation. May their future classes be even better than ours has been!

To Mrs. Bowers, our home room teacher, we all leave our love and hearty approval for the many kind and gracious deeds she has done for us. May she have all the nice things that she deserves.

We want Mr. Simpson to be happy after we are gone, so we will him a "good forgetter" which will cause him to forget all our faults, all the headaches we've caused, and will leave in his memory only the energy we have had—misdirected as it was sometimes—all the affection which we cherish for him and for our school, and all the good wishes which we never know how to express but which live deep within us.

In like spirit we hereby constitute Mr. Conrad, our ever dependable caretaker and friend, to serve without bond or other security as executor of this last will and testament.

In witness whereof we do here and now on the fifteenth day of June, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred forty-nine, subscribe our name and affix our seal.

THE 49-ERS
LLOYD CAUDLE, Spokesman

CLASS PROPHECY

By IRIS GOIN

Yes? May I help you?—Why, Julia Ann! When did you get back to Lewisville? . . . You came in last night! Well, I certainly didn't know about it. Is your husband with you? . . . Swell! You know, I hardly ever see you any more; we often see your picture on magazine covers since you are a Powers model, but that's about all.

Do you want to look over the town? . . . All right, jump into the station wagon and we'll look up some of our classmates of ten years ago. . . .

Those posters? Oh, yes, you haven't heard—Mayor Lasley is running for governor. You certainly remember when he began his climb for fame as a lawyer and politician when he won the case of Doub vs. Craft. Polly Brewer is Billy's secretary and is she good! Why, she really put Lewisville on the map when she became Miss American Secretary of 1959.

Do you see that huge building on the right? That large window on the first floor is the front of the Ford show room. Roy Hutchens is the manager and you should hear his sales talk! His biggest rival is Bill Southern, who is manager of the Chevrolet place directly across the street. You remember how Bill always boosted Chevrolets.

Above the Ford place is the very exclusive La Petite Salon, Dorothy Brendle and Katherine Holder, Cosmeticians. That's one of the gathering places for the women of Lewisville, because the lounge is a convenient place to meet and gossip about the week's affairs.

While we're waiting for the stoplight, I want you to see La Maison de la Costume. Mam'selle Dorothee Slater is the proprieteress. She's strictly Parisienne (West Bend style)!

See that big, blue bus? That belongs to Bill Isgett. He owns the Grapevine Transit and you'd be surprised at the number of passengers he carries in one day!

Oh! That was close! That Foy Jennings has some of the worst drivers in his cab fleet! Their motto is: "We go any place, any time, anyhow!" And they aren't kidding! The Pink Canary Cab Company has quite a reputation, though, for good service.

Over there is the school house. Did you know that Oneita Mendenhall is physical education instructor there? This spring, Lewisville's girls won the Journal and Sentinel Tournament.

Two of our Forty-Niners are playing basketball with Hanes Hosiery. Helen Strupe, who replaced Jackie Swaim, has been there for three years. Lonnie Dalton is high scorer for that winning boys' team at Hanes.

Seeing the schoolhouse reminds me of our classmates that aren't in town yet. Lloyd Caudle is, as you know, football coach at the University of North Carolina. His team really mopped up the field with Georgia Tech. in the Sugar Bowl last New Year. While he was at the University, Lloyd was picked for the All American football team for four straight years!

Here is our new housing district and I want you to see the new City Memorial Hospital. Edwin Craft is the contractor and he also has the plans for Lewisville's newest mansion. It's Anna Jones' new fourteen-room house. You know, of course, that she is engaged to a young doctor. That tall building on the hill is the hospital. Anna and Marie Tucker are head nurses. Marie is really a wonderful nurse! They say she graduated with top honors in her class.

PROPHECY

Those two brick houses down the avenue belong to the former Mary Ellen Harper and Rosie Dalton. They are two of our married Forty-Niners, and of course they married the two Leroys.

We'll turn around here and—that large tower? Why, Julia Ann, I'm shocked! You mean you didn't know that Lewisville has a new radio and television station? You really have been in New York. WLBC, the Lewisville Broadcasting Company, was organized by some our own class! Ted Fulp is the disc jockey who wakes us up each morning with a hearty yawn and an dismal "Good morning, everybody". Ray Plunkett really has a swell program. He comes on every evening at 8:00 with "Ray's Hour of Comedy". That's one program you should hear and see! Annie Butner is the receptionist there. Remember when she used to be worried about her typing and shorthand grades?

There is Margaret Herman's music store. She sells records, television and radio sets, and all sorts of musical instruments.

Yes, that is pretty. That Floyd Craft's farm. Last year it was voted the most productive farm in the South. The farm started out as an experiment and you can see what a success it was.

Here we are back at the office. From here you see the Lewisville Roller Mills, now operated by Roy Jennings. His market has spread over the entire United States.

Let's go on into my office. Doesn't everything look nice? Rachel Fulp makes the best editor the Lewisville Citizen ever had. She keeps all of us on the jump.

Don't mind my cluttered desk. I am always on the go and can't keep an orderly desk to save my life. You know, the society editor even in a small city must attend all social functions, so I don't have much time for routine work these days.

Do you have to go so soon? Well, all right, but don't forget, I'm expecting to see you at the annual Forty-Niners banquet tonight.
